Welcome to the NAPGC

The National Association of Public and Proprietary Golf Clubs and Courses (NAPGC) with around fifty member clubs, men and women, with thousands of individual club members, has come a long way since its formation in 1927. The Association benefits from recognition by England Golf and the R&A.

Member clubs recognise the benefits of affiliation which include the ability to compete in both team and individual national competitions. The NAPGC is proud of its ability to provide competitive golf for men, women and juniors of all ages and handicaps through over twenty national competitions each year.

Members compete individually in Championships and clubs can compete at team level in Championships. These span the spectre of golf club sections with provision for playing in men's, women's, senior's, junior's and mixed events.

The NAPGC has minor county status with England Golf which consequently enables gross individual and team NAPGC champions to progress to the England Golf finals for county championships.

FEES

Clubs can enjoy membership, which incorporates all their members, for a minimal fee based on the numbers of members.

Fees for 2025 are:
49 or less members - £60
50-99 Members - £120
100-149 Members - £180
150+ members - £240

Competition entry fees are also very reasonable. For 2025 club level individual entry fees are £4, with a similar administration fee applied at regional events, while team entry fees are no more than £30.

For those individuals and club teams reaching national finals the playing fees are then subsidised.

HISTORY of the NAPGC

In 1927, five times Open Champion John Henry Taylor and the renowned course architect FG Hawtree formed the NAPGC. Both were men of vision who believed the new association would bring about cohesion between “public” and “private” golf.

Around one hundred years on, the philosophy remains unchanged and the Association has adapted to the many changes that have evolved in the organisation and management of “public course golf”. The focus of the Association is very much on providing competitive golf opportunities for Men, Women and Juniors of all ages and handicaps.

In the recent past the Association was renamed to the ‘National Association of Public and Proprietary Golf Clubs and Courses’ recognising the large number of golf courses owned by individuals or companies but nevertheless open to the General Public. The NAPGC welcomes new clubs in the hope that the Association will continue to grow as a truly national organisation representing public course golf and its golfers.

At the NAPGC Annual General Meeting in 2015 the Association incorporated, so became a limited company, and has since had a board of volunteer directors who lead the organisation with the support of competition organisers underpinning the structure.
